Massive Online Open Course - Trust and Action Project

The Trust and Action MOOC focuses on Framework Decisions 2008/947/JHA and 2009/829/JHA at both the European and national levels.

It can be freely accessed at the following link: <https://elearning.unito.it/mooc/course/index.php?categoryid=5> [1]

The course provides the participants with key information on the functioning of these instruments of judicial cooperation and on their implementation in Italy, Romania and Spain.

The MOOC is addressed to a varied range of beneficiaries, such as students, volunteer of civil society organisations, prison staff, lawyers, judges and public prosecutors.

It is divided into various sections. The introductory one offers an overview of the main principles and techniques governing judicial cooperation in criminal matters in the EU.

The second and the fourth ones address Framework Decisions 2008/947/JHA and 2009/829/JHA respectively, whereas the third and the fifth provide an in-depth analysis of the implementation of these acts in the Member States concerned.

The materials published in this website can be a useful complement to the Trust and Action MOOC.

Massive Online Open Course - RePers Project

The RePers research consortium has developed an e-learning tool providing the necessary tools to cope with Framework Decision 2008/947/JHA and 2009/829/JHA, and with the challenges that they pose.

The tool is a MOOC which can be easily and freely accessed at the following link:

<https://elearning.unito.it/mooc/course/index.php?categoryid=5> ^[1].

The first unit focuses on the development of the EU integration process and on judicial cooperation in criminal matters. Attention is paid to the notions of mutual trust and mutual recognition, which constitute the conceptual bases for judicial cooperation mechanisms across the EU.

The following units focus on the presentation of the distinctive features of the Framework Decisions concerned. The relevant procedures and the respective roles and responsibilities of the actors involved - both under EU law and domestic (Italian, Romanian and Spanish) implementing legislations - are explained.

The course also addresses the highly disputed notion of social rehabilitation, which is key in particular for the implementation of Framework Decisions 2008/909/JHA ^[2] and 2008/947/JHA ^[3].

The following unit considers some of the practical difficulties stemming from the implementation of cross-border transfers of prisoners under Framework Decision 2008/909/JHA ^[2] and discusses the possible ways to address them.

The last unit is devoted to Framework Decision 2008/947/JHA ^[3] and Framework Decision 2009/829/JHA ^[4]. It provides an in-depth analysis of the content and the functioning of these instruments, which are mutually complementary and contribute to the development of an ever advanced system of European judicial cooperation in criminal matters.

Each unit includes additional materials, such as summaries, relevant legislation and case law.

Please feel free to contact the research team for queries and for the possible use of this course for professional training purposes.
